The conference encourages participation of undergraduate students, master students, PhD students, post-doctoral young researchers and also advanced researchers who are interested in the following research areas:

- ❑ Socio-Economic Forecasting;
- ❑ Governance of Private and Public Sectors;
- ❑ Law, Culture and the Humanities;
- ❑ New Development Paradigms.

The conference language is English.

The conference programme will take the format of three sections, namely:

- Section: Undergraduate students, master students and PhD students (Panel „Young Researcher” dedicated to Bachelor, Master and Doctoral Students);
- Section: Post-doctoral young researchers and advanced researchers (Panel „Advanced Researcher” dedicated to Post-Doctoral Research Fellows and Researchers);
- Section: Innovative Projects (Panel „Project Ideas”, dedicated to undergraduate students, master students and PhD students).

The conference will take the form of an international competition based on research papers thereupon can apply, under the conditions stipulated by the methodology (see Statement regarding Paper submission within the Competition – Annex 2 from the Methodology of competitive results evaluation), undergraduate students and master students, PhD students, post-doctoral young researchers and also advanced researchers.

Undergraduate students, master students and PhD students have the possibility to enter the competition with projects that reflect their business ideas, creativity and innovation.

Prizes awarded within the competition

Papers that obtain the highest score will be awarded with diplomas and prizes, namely:

- Debut in Research Prize, awarded to undergraduate students, master students or PhD students under the age of 30;
- Prize for Advanced Researchers, awarded to post-doctoral researchers and advanced researchers;
